(B) The investigating agency shall immediately notify local law enforcement of all reports of severe maltreatment.

A.C.A. § 12-12-507

(f)(1) The child abuse hotline shall accept a report when the allegations, if true, would constitute child maltreatment as defined in § 12-12-503\(6\) and as long as sufficient identifying information is provided to identify and locate the child or the family.

(2) The child abuse hotline shall accept a report of physical abuse if any of the following intentional or knowing acts are alleged to occur, but the report shall not be determined to be true unless the child suffered an injury as the result of the act:

(C) Shaking a child age four (4) or older; or

(D) Striking a child age seven (7) or older on the face or on the head.

(4)(A) The child abuse hotline shall accept a report of physical abuse if a child suffers an injury as the result of a restraint.

(g)(1) The child abuse hotline shall accept a report if the child or the child's family is present in Arkansas or the incident occurred in Arkansas.

(B) The Arkansas investigating agency shall make an investigative determination and shall provide notice to the alleged offender that, if the allegation is determined to be true, the offender's name will be placed in the central

1. Construction with other provisions

Child Abuse Reporting Act section requiring certain named individuals to report sexual abuse imposes a compelling duty on classes of persons named therein to act when they have "reasonable cause to suspect" sexual abuse, defined elsewhere in Act as including "sexual activity" and any deviate sexual activity. A.C.A. § § 12-12-504, 12-12-504\(c\). Cundiff v. Crider, 1990, 303 Ark. 120, 792 S.W.2d 604. Infants  13

2. Admissibility of evidence

Examining physician's testimony that victim had identified defendant as the person who raped her was admissible in rape prosecution, under hearsay exception for statements made for purposes of medical diagnosis or treatment; victim was 14-year-old child, victim was responding to physician's questions, physician was treating and diagnosing child's injuries, defendant was victim's stepfather and therefore was member of her household, victim was not attempting to shift blame, and victim's identification of defendant allowed physician to take steps to prevent further abuse of victim by defendant, allowed physician to treat the emotional and psychological injuries which accompanied the rape, and allowed physician to fulfill his legislatively imposed duty of calling the child-abuse hotline and reporting the crime, even if the victim did not manifest an understanding of the importance of her statements to the treating physician. ### 3. Questions of law or fact

Evidence that child's life could have been saved if doctor had reported potential child abuse presented question for jury on issue of proximate cause for purposes of medical malpractice claim. A.C.A. § 16-114-206\(a\). Stecker v. First Commercial Trust Co., 1998, 962 S.W.2d 792, 331 Ark. 452. Health  826

Evidence in action against family practitioner was for jury on issue of whether practitioner failed to report reasonably suspected child abuse as required under statute. A.C.A. § 12-12-507. First Commercial Trust Co. v. Rank, 1996, 915 S.W.2d 262, 323 Ark. 390, opinion supplemented on denial of rehearing 917 S.W.2d 167, 323 Ark. 390. Health  825

4. Argument and conduct of counsel

Repeated closing argument references to "protection of the children" in medical malpractice action against physician for failing to report potential child abuse did not necessarily evidence improper "send a message to the community" theme when punitive damages had not been sought, in light of discussion on standard of care and other points in closing argument making it plausible that remarks permissibly concerned issue of degree of certainty about abuse required to trigger duty of physician to make report. Stecker v. First Commercial Trust Co., 1998, 962 S.W.2d 792, 331 Ark. 452. Trial  125(1)

5. Contempt

Employees of Department of Human Services did not act in good faith in taking minor child into custody so as to preclude criminal contempt citation for violation of court order granting father visitation of child, where employees were aware of alleged sexual abuse of child by father months before divorce proceeding in which visitation order was issued and never filed any kind of action alleging that child should be removed from mother's home, but unilaterally removed child and placed him in foster care for three days after court ordered visitation with father. A.C.A. § 12-12-507(b). Henry v. Eberhard, 1992, 309 Ark. 336, 832 S.W.2d 467. Child Custody  854

6. Immunity from suit

Employees of human development center were protected by qualified privilege under Child Abuse Reporting Act and immune from suit by mother of mentally retarded and autistic resident of center for reporting employees' observations of mother kissing and embracing her daughter which resulted in investigative unit determining that credible evidence of sexual abuse and neglect existed, even though administrative review determined that there was not sufficient evidence of abuse and neglect and absolved mother of any criminal activity; there was no evidence that the employees acted spitefully or in bad faith in reporting their observations.
